NEW YORK, Feb. 24.-E. F. Wiltz of California is registered at the Waldorf mines in Africa, of which John Hays Hammond, now under arrest, was the chief. Wiltz is thoroughly posted in Transvaal affairs, having lived several years in and around Johannesburg, and his sympathies are all with the Uit-

"I presume," said Wiltz, last night, "that what you more particularly want to know is about the American ment in the Transvaal. Well, the Americans are not numerous, but they are influential, and I may add popula with the Boers, while the English, naturally enough, are hated. And here I raiders might have entertained the annexation idea when they followed Dr. Jameson, the American element did not, and I believe, in fact, I know, that the meeting was in the direction of reform. I left the couptry before the raid, but I, as every one else, knew that trouble of that the state of things was growing more and more intolerable to the Uit-

I could speak more especially of matters in the Transvaal from inside knowledge I possess, but prudence compels my silence. "In conclusion I may say that the American element in South Africa is one of beneficence. It takes in the most influential and progressive of the population and has, in an engineering sense, control of the Rand mines, which mines are the richest in the whole world. Why, they are not half developed, nor will they be until the Transval has a more liberal government. As for the future, no man knows what it will bring forth, though we can all guess. That there will be vast changes is certain.

world. He proposes to obtain cathode rays directly from the sun, without the use of electricity. Just exactly what his method is is not definitely known. but he is now conducting experiments and obtained satisfactory results. He does not want to announce the results of his experiments as yet, lest there be me mistake, and says it is unscientific to state conclusions before they are proved beyond doubt.

He and his assistants were working all day long and well into the evening at the new process. The sun's rays are brought to a focus by means of a concave mirror and the light passed through a prism. What this prism is has not yet been made known, but it is thought to contain a solution of some salt of uranium. "GOULD'S DAUGHTER." Newly-discovered History in the Millionaire's Case.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.) NEW YORK, Feb. 24.-1/hether Jay Gould had a wife living at the time he married the woman who became the mother of George and Helen will probably be decided in court very soon, if the lawyers can establish as a fact that Jason Gould, who married Sarah Brown, was the Jay Gould of later years. The lawyers have made strengular than the strength of the Gould had a wife living at the time h

This much, however, has become known through Mrs. Angeil, the claimant, and other persons.

Sarah Brown was one of a family of four in the neighborhood of Rouse's Point. Her parents were poor and illiterate and she was brought up without a knowledge of reading and writing. She was a particularly handsome girl and in her old age bears traces of early beauty. She, when 15 years old, met Jason, or Jay, Gould and, after a brief courtship, they were married. Four months afterward young Jason Gould's busipess called him elsewhere, and he never returned to his wife, to whom a child was born. After her desertion by Gould, the young wife's parents turned her out of doors and she went into service to support-herself and little girl. When the child grew up Sarah bound Mary over to a man named Weaver, who became the girl's foster father, and, upon the removal of Weaver to Canada, the mother and daughter were practically dead to each other until recently.

sembodied in an affidavit which he subsequently made. It will figure in any court case that may follow.

What is considered to be a very important affidavit is said to have been made by one of the ricefest men in Callfornia, who is said to have been a close friend of Jay Gould. This affidavit, it is said, is to the effect that on a certain occasion Could told this friend that he had married a girl in the northern part of the State and believed she was dead. Gould made the acquaintance of the mother of George and Helen in the same informal way he is alleged to have made the acquaintance of Sarah Brown. The only thing that retards the suit from recognition by the executors of the Gould estate is proof that Jason and Jay Gould were the same.

Gen. "I also," said Gen. McMahon, "brand as absolutely false the statement that the old soldiers are compelled to take the gold cure. I made a thorough investigation of that charge at the Leavenworth home a year ago and discharged Surgeon Weaver, who had caused the investigation to be made.

"Col. S. H. Smith, governor of the Leavenworth home, who is a Keeley graduate, petitioned the board for the establishment of a Keeley cure at the Leavenworth home. It decreased drunkenness 50 per cent., and since then a Keeley branch has been located at the Federal station."

Mary Brown-Gould grew up to be as good-looking a woman as her mother. She married and has children. She and her husband settled down in one of the Northwestern Territories. One day a richly-dressed woman called on her, and, without much preliminary, told her that she was her mother. But Mary did not find any responsive fillal feeling; in fact, she was skeptical. The newly-found mother was received rather coldly by the family. Although the woman told her certain things about her early life, still Mary doubted. When she had gone Mary pondered over the information imparted by the visitor that she was the daughter of the millionaire. Jay Gould.

Some time after this Jay Gould was making a trip through the country and would soon be in her neighborhood. She deelded to make an effort to speak with him. She ascertained that the Gould train would halt near Sulphur River, near Green Rivey City, Wyo. She took along withher a friend of her husband, a United States Marshal. Mary was lucky enough to find the train. Gould was informed that a lady wished to see him. He went to the steps of his car. "Mr. Gould," she said, "I am your daughter and my mother was Sarah Brown."

REGULAR SESSION. (BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.) WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—SENATE— Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire, chairman of the Committee on Penchairman of the Committee on Pen-sions, rose to the question of personal privilege when the Senate assembled today and in vigorous language de-nounced the publication in the New York Sun, purporting to report the ac-tion of the Senate in passing a number of private pension bills last Tuesday, It has been asserted that all the rec-

It has been asserted that all the records have been broken by the "Senate Mill," 120 bills being passed in an hour, with little or no consideration, few members being present, etc. Senator Gallinger declared that this was a tissue of misrepresentations, sixty-seven bills were passed in two and three-quarters hours and the total increase was 12.072 a year. The Senator was very caustic concerning the violation of journalistic privilege.

Senator Hoar of Massachusetts said that each pension bill passed the inspection of the Senate and House Pension Committees, greater in number than the membership of the Supreme Court or Court of Appeals. It has been asserted that all the rec Senator Hawley of Connecticut said that it was impossible for a newspaper to avoid being led into an occasional error. He fully upheld the facts stated by the chairman of the Pension Committee, but said there was quite a prevalent feeling against large pension expenditures.

senator Gallinger called up the bill granting a pension to the widow of the late Walter Q. Gresham as brigadiergeneral at $200 per month, with amendment reducing the amount to Senator Turple of Indiana spoke in support of the amendment, but he said the choice of Gen. Gresham as Secretary of State took the country by surprise. Gen. Gresham had never been known as a member of the Democratic party and his choice was regarded as a marked departure from established usage. At the outset he was threatened with isolation, but his bonhomie won him personal friends, while his substantial ability and tact commanded respect. Senator Turple spoke of the difficulties in the Hawaiian and Bering Sea complications and the tremendous labor involved therein, labor greater than that falling upon any Secretary Senator Turpie of Indiana spoke in habor involved therein, labor greater than that falling upon any Secretary of State during the war. A love of justice was the afforbing motive of his life, political and social distinctions disappearing before this controlling trait of his character. The Senator reviewed the Secretary's career as a soldier, statesman and jurist. At the conclusion of Senator Turple's remarks the bill as amended at $100 was passed without division.

bill as amended at $100 was passed without division.

The resolution of Senator Lodge directing the Finance Committee to inquire into the circumstances of bond issues during 1894-95-96 was taken up.

Senator Peffer offered an amendment broadening the resolution and directing that it be made by a special committee of five Senators.

Senator Lodge moved to lay the Peffer amendment on the table.

Senator Hill had sought to discuss the subject, but Senator Lodge's motion to table it cut off debate, the Massachusetts Senator remarking that the express purpose was to prevent lengthy discussion.

chusetts Senator remarking that the express purpose was to prevent lengthy discussion.

"I shall find an opportunity to give my views on the subject," interjected Senator Hill.

The motion to table was defeated, yeas 16, nays 34. The vote in detail was as follows:

Yeas-Republicans, Senators Aldrich, Allison, Chandler, Cullom, Frye, Gear, Hawley, Lodge, Morrill, Quay, Sherman Wetmore; Democrats, Senators Bacon, Gorman, Gray, Palmer; Populists, none.

Nays-Republicans, Senators Baker, Brown, Burrows, Cameron, Cannon, Carter, Davis, Hansbrough, Mantle, Perkins, Pritchard, Shoup, Teller; Democrats, Senators Bate, Berry, Caffery, Chilton, Cockrell, Gordon, Harris, Hill, Lindsay, Martin, Morgan, Pascoe, Roach, Turple, Vest, Walthall, White; Populists, Senators Allen, Butler, Jones of Nevada, Peffer.

Senator Hill said he voted against tabling the resolution as he thought is desirable to discuss it. He regarded the Lodge resolution as proper in form and giving due courtesy to the Secretary of the Treasury, but he did not consider it the province of the Senate to investigate everything brought before it. It was desirable to look into the motives inspiring these various resolutions. Requests for information were one thing, but formal investigations were another and more serious question. An "investigation of irregularity. Before such an investigation was inaugurated there should be something definite and tangible. It is not because this is a Democratic Secretary of the Treasury that I oppose this investigation," said Senator Hill, with great vigor. "I would oppose it if my worst politica: enemy occupied the chair of the Secretary." He opposed it, he said, because this investigation was based on idle rumor and sensational newspaper gossip. It volced the "wail and complaints of disappointed bond bidders.

"If this investigation is begun there will be no means of stopping an investigation of every trivial rumor. If there is anything in the recent bond sale requiring investigation," said Senator Hill, "there should be a formal resolution stating just what was charged, in order that the results might be compared with the expectation. As the resolution stood now it was a 'stab in the dark; it was an attempt to insinuate what the author (Mr. Peffer) of the resolution was afraid to state boldly." Senator Hill referred to a recent speech by Senator Allen of Nebraska, in which the latter spoke of himself as a farmer. "Yes, a farmer, and a Democrat," interjected Senator Allen, jocularly. "If the Senator is no better farmer than he is a Democrat," responded Senator Hill, "then I pity the crops raised in Nebraska."

in Nebraska."

At this point 2 o'clock intervened, setting aside the bond resolutions and bringing up the Cuban question, which is the regular order. Senator Morgan resumed his speech in support of the resolution to recognize the Cubans as belligerents. He reviewed the policy of the United States regarding Cuba since the time of President Adams. The latter prophesied that within fifty years Cuba would be a State of the United States, and thereafter Webster, Clay, Jefferson and other statesmen uniformly urged the acquisition of Cuba formly urged the acquisition of Cuba by the United States.

by the United States.
Senator Morgan said the atrockies of the Spanish in controlling the Cubans were almost without parallel in history.
In the last war not only had 13,000 In the last war not only had 13,000 Cubans been killed in battle, but 44,000 Cubans been killed in battle, but 44,000 prisoners had been put to death. It was a most shocking holocaust. The Senator said he had paused in wonderment to think that the United States had stood silently by at this awfu: slaugher of 44,000 prisoners, instead of moving, sword in hand, and driving the Spamiards from the island.

Senator Frye of Maine asked if this wonderfully shocking statement was historical.

wonderfully shocking statement was historical.

Senator Morgan repiled that it was history deliberately written by a Spaniard, appearing in the American Encyclopedia under the title Cuba. The present war, said Senator Morgan, was but a renewal of the former. Gen, Gomez had returned to his command and Cisnero, the insurgent president, returned to his task. The United States could go no further in its forbearance without a stain on its honor. It was too imperative a duty of today to declare a state of war existing. The great body of native Cubans are in favor of the insurrence although the bloody code of others keeps them in subjection. Spain has sent to the conflict up to this time eleven war vessels, 110,000 men, and has 80,000 volunteers for garrison duty. And yet this vast force cannot keep Gen. Gomes from hearing the morning and evening guns of Havana. After reading from the reports from United States consuls, Senator Morgan said no one could doubt without impeaching our own consuls that the mass of the Cubans were in sympathy with Gomez and Maceo and that in the end the Cubans were certain to achieve their liberty. were in sympathy with Gomez Maceo and that in the end the Cu

Maceo and that in the end the Cubans were certain to achieve their liberty. The Senator read a letter from Cuba, written, he said, by a thoroughly reliable authority. It described the gradual success of the Cubans and graphically explained the campaign methods of Gomez. The latter's force was placed by this authority at 17,000. The writer spoke of the lack of intelligent information by the Spanish officials at Havana, the captain-general knowing as little of existing conditions as the President of existing conditions of the United States.

Morgan said the bloody code of Gen. Weyler was without a parallel in mod-ern warfare. It was against women and children and innocent tradesmen. If this inhuman code was directed against one citizen, said the Senator, then million people would visit upon her such a redress as would make the Curules of civilized warfare be observed. The Senator said the adoption of this resolution would not only apply to this rebellion but also the next and to this rebellion but also the next and next, for they would continue to come, and would be notice to Spain that belligerency would be accorded to those struggling for their freedom, Senator Morgan spoke until 5:15 o'clock and will continue his remarks tomorrow. Senator White of California offered a substitute for the pending resolution, as follows:

"Resolved That the Senate contemporary of the pending resolution of the pending resolution as follows:

"Resolved, That the Senate contem-plates with solicitude and profound replates with solicitude and profound re-gret the sufferings and destruction ac-companying the great civil conflict now in progress in Cuba. While the United States have not interfered and will not unless their vital interests so demand, and will not interfere with existing colonies and indepedencies of any European government on this herany European government on this hem isphere, nevertheless our people hav never disguised and do not now con ceal their sympathy for all those wh struggle patriotically as do the Cuban now in revolt to exercise, maintain and preserve the right of self-government. Nor can we ignore our exceptional and close relations to Cuba by reason of geographical proximity and our con-sequent grave interest in all questions affecting the control or well-being of that island. We ardently hope that the executive department, to whose inves-tigation and care our diplomatic relaexecutive department, to whose investigation and care our diplomatic relations have been committed, will at an early date find the facts to be such as to warrant the recognition of beligerency of those who are maintaining themselves in Cuba in armed opposition to Spain and that the influences and offices of the United States may be prudently, peacefully and effectively exerted to the end that Cuba may be enabled to establish permanent government of her own choica."

Committee on Indian Affairs this recommended that this appropriagain be reduced 20 per cent., but Linton moved an amendment that Mr. Linton moved an amendment that no portion of this appropriation should go to sectarian schools. In his speech in support of it he attributed the defeat of many members two years ago to their refusal to abolish sectarian schools and predicted disaster to those who still stood out against their abolish. He also referred indignantly to schools and predicted disaster to those who still stood out against their abolition. He also referred indignantly to a statue of Pierre Marquette, robed in the gown of a Jesuit priest and decorated with the paraphernalia of his church, which is shortly to be efected in Statuary Hall in the presence of high dignitaries of the Catholic church. In the debate that followed, Alestra. Cooper of Wisconsin, Watson of Ohio, Halner of Nebraska, McLachlan of California and Grosvenor of Ohio supported the amendment, while Messrs. Eadle of Minnesota, Gamble of South Dakota, Walsh of New York and Sherman of New York argued in favor of carrying out the policy of reducing the appropriations by 20 per cent. per year. The latter recalled that Gen. Grant had proposed the system and that for twenty-five years Congress has encouraged the churches to carry on their, educational work among the Indians. The Indian Bill was completed today, save for a single paragraph.

When the portion of the bill relating to Indian schools was reached, Mr. Linton of Michigan made a speech against the appropriation of money for sectarian schools. He recalled the fact that two years ago he had denounced the policy of appropriating money for these institutions. He had warned members then and this warning had not proved effective. The result was the absence of men whose faces had been familiar in the halls of Congress for years.

Mr. Linton then offered an amend-ment providing that no money appro-priated for the support of Indian schools should go to any sectarian school.

Mr. Gamble of South Dakota de-Mr. Gamble of South Datota de-fended the appropriation for sectarian schools. Mr. Cooper concluded by quoting the clause of the Constitution relating to religious freedom, written by Thomas Jefferson, which he said Jefferson was more proud of than anything he ever wrote in the Declaration of Independence.

Mr. Cooper's remarks were warmly applauded by the galleries and a scattering of members on the floor.

Mr. Eddy of Minnesota supported the provision in the bill and paid a high tribute to the missionary work of the Catholic churches among the Indians, while Mr. Watson, Republican, of Ohlo, and Mr. Halner of Nebraska supported the Linton amendment in brief speeches.

ported the Linton amendment in brief speeches.

Mr. Walsh of New York replied with some warmih. He did not, he said, credit some gentlemen on the other side with the high patriotic motives they ascribed to themselves. This blow was aimed at the Catholic church. He want a Roman Catholic and as good an American citizen as any member on the floor. (Applause.) He assured the House, however, that if the appropriation for these schools was entirely withdrawn that the children would be taken care of. The Catholic church has never undertaken a great mission withductarrying it out.

amendment. The latter said he had no feeling in the matter, partisan or sectarian, but he thought the time had arrived when this appropriation would always produce religious controversy and could be discontinued without jeopardizing the Indian appropriation.

Mr. Sherman of New York, chairman of the Indian Committee, tried in vain to stem the tide that was evidently getting strength against the committee. He reviewed the history of these appropriations. They had, he recalled, originated, not with the churches. They had not asked for the appropriation. The proposition had emanated from Gen. Grant in 1870 and the policy then entered upon continued until two years ago. Different sects have been encouraged to undertake this work. It so happened that the Catholic church had been most active and something like 31500 000 had gone to Catholic so happened that the Catholic church had been most active and something like $1,500,000 had gone to Catholic schools. It had been deemed wise to change this policy, but the change should not be made in a minute. The church had been encouraged for a quarter of a century. It was fair neither to the church nor the children to withdraw the appropriation without warning.

to withdraw the appropriation without warning.

"I am not a Catholic," said Mr. Sherman, "neither am I like my friend from Ohlo, Mr. Grosvenor, who is not a member of any church. I am a Protestant, but I do not believe any church alone points the way to heaven, although I do believe that my creed is better than no creed." (Applause.)

This appropriation, he concluded, was not used to teach the dusky warriors of the nation the catechism, but how to read, to write and count, and he appealed to the members to rise "above partisanship and above sect" and sustain the committee. He then made a point of order against the Linton amendment which was overruled by Mr. Paine in the chair, amid considerable enthusiasm. The amendment Mr. Paine in the chair, amid considerable enthusiasm. The amendment was then carried. The Democrats voted almost solidly against it, while the Republicans were divided. The announcement of the result was met with a storm of approval from the galleries which seemed in sympathy with the majority on the floor. WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The Pacific H. Hubbard appeared to argue that as far as the Central Pacific was con-cerned it fully performed its obliga-tions to the government. He under-took to answer the allegations of the out.

When the portion of the bill relating to Indian schools was reached, Mr. Linton of Michigan made a speech against the appropriation of money for sectarian schools. He recalled the fact that two years ago he had denounced the policy of appropriating money for these institutions. He had warned members then and this warning had not proved effective. The result was the absence of men whose faces had been smillar in the "But." said he, "the storm of ballots and flood of indignation which overwhelmed the country will be but as a zenbyr and a rivulet compared with what will happen if Congress persists in this policy."

He had read a great mass of resolutions from churches and other sources protesting against appropriating money for contract sectarian schools.

Every member of the House, Mr. Linton said, knew that the pending bill carried, 3250,000 for, sectarian schools, every dollar of which would suffer. The Roman Catholic church would suffer. The Rom Anderson, report. . Whatever existed in high as 90 and as low as 10 or 15.

Gen. Hubbard thought the question of settlement should be considered as a business it position and the contract as one between individuals. The question as to what profit each party to it made should not enter. The fundamental error in the minds of the public was that the men who built the road were treated as trustees. The government wanted a road across the continent and it did not want to build one itself. It agreed to contribute bonds, the latter to be ultimately redeemed. The constructors were expected to do the rest, certainly not without an expectation of profit.

The sensible settlement would be just on the policy of abandoning sectarian schools and was each year cutting down the appropriation 20 per cent. In three years the appropriation would cease. It would not do to withdraw all appropriations outright.

Mr. Cooper of Wisconsin announced his unalterable opposition to the provision of the bill appropriating 60 per cent. of the appropriation of 1895 for the sectarian schools. He had voted against it last year and would do so this session and for the same reason. Public money for sectarian schools was unrepublican, undemocratic and unamerican. He did not speak as an A.P.A.; he was not an A.P.A., but as an American citizen. If the support of the government was withdrawa the Catholic church would support her schools as other churches did. There were six million Catholic communicants. If each pald 5 cents a year, $300, 500.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—(By Atlantic Ca-ole.) Manager Fleming of the National cumstances will the club subscribe a cent for a contest in which Corbett is one of the principals, but it was added that any other American pugilist might apply with fair prospects of arranging a match. The objection to Corbett is based on the bitter tongue-lashing he gave the National Sporting Club when he returned to the United States after gave the National Sporting Club when he returned to the United States after his appearance here.

Secretary Stevens of the Bolingbroke Club said that they would give a purse of $8000 for Fitzsimmons and Corbett to compete for, and allow the contestants $700 each for expenses. Should Fitzsimmons fail to accept promptly Frank Slavin stands ready to meet Corbett before the Bolingbroke Club. Savin has already offered in Sporting Life to meet Fitzsimmons for $5000 a side in England, or he will bet $5000 he can stop Corbett in six rounds.

Manager Fleming of the National Sporting Club was surprised when informed this evening that the Bolingbroke Club offered a purse of $8000 for a contest between Fitzsimmons and Corbett. He said that since he announced the determination that his club would not put up a cent for a contest in which Corbett was one of the principals, the matter had been reconsidered, and a decision reached that if Corbett will apologize the National Sporting Club will offer a purse for a match between him and Fitzsimmons.

It looks as though there would not be much difficulty for Corbett and Fitzsimmons to get a chance for a fight in England under good auspices if both of them really want to fight. Manager Fleming appeared before the National club at the conclusion of the glove contests and announced he had received information that Corbett had made an offer of an apology to the club. He asked the opinion of the members present on the subject.

There was much evident conflict of opinion shown on the whole matter and some excidement, particularly when the question of a referee was mooted. It was finally agreed to accept the ex-champion's apology, providing a match was ratified, but the club rejected Corbett's suggestion of an American referee.

would offer a purse for a match between Corbett and Fitzsimmons providing the former would apologize for his utterances concerning the club, Corbett said this evening:

"If Fitzsimmons will agree to meet me before the National Sporting club, a will make ample apology to that organization, although I do not think I have ever done or said anything for which I should apologize. However, I am determined to leave no stone unturned in the endeavor to bring about a contest between Fitzsimmons and myself. There is one provision, however, that I shall insist upon, and that is that the referee shall be an American. I stand ready to close up myshow on two weeks' notice and will go into active training just as soon as articles are signed for the fight."

"There are some people," continued Corbett, "who, right from the start of my career in the ring, have abused me and doubted that I was honest in everything that I ever said or did. These same people, are the ones who are seering at my present standing challege to Fitzsimmons, and say that I will never fight. I will fight if Fitzsimmons gives me the chance. He will not accept my challenge because he wants to, but because the public will force him into it eventually.

"I don't know what Fitzsimmons's plans for the future are, but wherever he goes I will go and he will finally have to meet me. There will be no tlukes then. You can bet on that. I am not particular about money for a match. I want to beat this imitation, whether there is a cent in it or not. My forfeit money of $1000 is up in Chicago, and it will stay up until Fitzsimmons covers it. There is a whole lot of cossip in circulation about my condition. I am as good as ever I was, and could get into as good condition as I was in any fight I was ever in. The yarns about my dissipation and the marks of it being left on me are afl buncombe. You can see for yourself that I am looking pretty good for a man that will never fight again."

Corbett certainly does look to be in good condition. His color is good, his eyes are br to make an extension with such a rate of interest as would enable the company to carry out the contract.

The government wanted to avoid the payment of its bonds. The chief thing for the government was to avoid the payment of principal. This proposition was that the government should take care of the interest and the railroad would take care of the principal as it became due. For the railroads to do both would be for the present too much of a tax on the roads. In answer to questions from Mr. Patterson and others, he amplified his proposition. The sinking fund, he said, could be applied on the principal, which would reduce it to a point where the roads could take care of it.

For the payment of the accrued interest he would issue fifty-year 2-percent, income bonds, one-half of the excess of the earnings over 2 per cent. to go to a sinking fund and one-half to the stockholders. It was important, he thought, that the stock should pay dividends and not be extinguished. The railroads he asserted, could comply with such a plan.

Gen. Hubbard said he would conferr with representatives of the Union Paralicoads, and if possible devises some plan satisfactory to both to settle the difficulty. Gen. Hubbard will appear before the committee again next Wednesday.

then he was going to search for Ballington Booth and his wife. His mysterious absence has given rise to a rumor that the Booths and some of the leading Salvationists are in conference somewhere, and are discussing plans for a rebellion. This rumor, however, is not credited. Gen. Evans resided in the fashionable part of Philadelphia known as Tloga, and is a man of considerable influence locally.

It was proposed to hold a great rally at the Academy of Music Tuesday night and a large number of tickets were sold through the efforts of the auxiliary for the army, which embraces many society people.

The last seen of Gen. Evans was at a rally at Germantown on Thursday night, and unless he turns up today the meeting at the Academy will likely be declared off. Late tonight it was learned that Gen. Evans attended the secret conference held in New York yesterday.

Commander Ballington. Booth and Mrs. Booth left the headquarters of the Salvation Army at 7 o'clock tonight for good. Mrs. Booth said she would send after her few remaining personal belongings, but that she herself would not return to the offices. Booth said they proposed to retire quietly, but they should turn over everything to their successors, and that they should consult leading citizens to learn how best the interests of the American people may be conserved in the matter of disposing of some of the army property best the interests of the American people may be conserved in the matter of disposing of some of the army property of which he was acting as trustee.

Mr. and Mrs. Booth said they were going to a friend's house to take a very much needed rest. Commander Booth told what was done in the meeting in a statement which he dictated to a reporter just before leaving the building. He said the meeting was composed of the most representative of the 400 adherents of the army, and it was a gathering not of his calling together. He was invited to address the meeting in order that his version of the trouble might be heard along with the statements by the field commissioner, Eva Booth Booth The commander affirmed that he had reasons why he had refused to go to London.

There were several conditions, under which he would go. They were, First, that three American brigadiers should be present at all meetings in London; second, Col. Nicol remain here and assist Mrs. Booth in the command during his absence; fifth, that Commander Eva Booth should return to London.

These conditions were not accepted, the "Eadie faction" especially objecting to the one requiring Herbert to stay in Toronto. They would not consent to the request that Commander Eva withdraw from America. Besides, they insisted that Mrs. Maud Booth return to England with her husband, Ballington.

Commander Booth continued, saying he was asked to go to be court-martialed. This he would not submit to. He further said that the statements issued by the Eadle faction were misleading, to say the least.

In a circular letter dated February 22, signed by Col. Nicol, which was mailed to officers throughout the country tonight, it is stated Commander and Mrs. Booth had sent in a letter of resignation to the general, as far back as January 31.

A prominent staff officer stated tonight that Commander Ballington Booth had continually in mind and heart his duty to the American people; that he had felt that all along during the nine years of his residence here that the strict military rules of his father, the general, would not work successfully in the United States, and that he had been successful because he had made the people love him. The authority said $5000 had been contributed by the United States branch to assist the English branch. "I have heard scarcely any expression of opinion on this subject." Staff Captain Brown said in reply to a query as to what effect was being exerted upon the members of the army by Commander Booth's resignation. "It is needless to deny that all are interested, but the fact is that few are really aware that Commander Booth has resigned. They feel that something of importance has taken place in New York, but their loyalty to the army and their confidence that nothing can affect its future usefulness, is so great that they are satisfied to wait until the whole truth comes out in due time. "There is no thought of secession from the parent order. You can depend on that. It has been, and is still, the boast of the Salvation Army, that it is all under one flag and one head. That spirit has grown stronger and stronger every year since the army was organized, and will make such a movement impossible, even should Commander Ballington Booth lead in an attempt to divide the American army from the other armies. He has already given evidence of his intense loyalty and devotion to the cause, so there is no use making conjectures."

have to acknowledge the receipt of the letter of the 3d of February, signed by letter of the 3d of February, signed by yourself and other gentlemen, and addressed to Gen. Booth. Inasmuch as a considerable delay must needs occur before the general can reply by letter to yours, owing to his absence in the East, and, seeing I have already obtained from the general; to whom I have cabled an epitome of the resolutions which are embodled in yours, telegraphic instructions as to his views on the matter generally, it seems to me it would only be courteous that I should endeavor at once to explain them on his behalf, so far as I am able to do so. I shall, of course, refrain from observations which I think the general might prefer himself to make, in view of his personal acquaintance with the gentlemen signing the letter to him, and will confine myself to indicating to you the general principles that are at the base of his decision to change the commanding officers of the army in the United States. And I desire, first of all, to point out that this change is in entire harmony with the system and practice of the army since its inauguration. Indeed, but for the operation of this rule of periodical removal from one command to amother, Commander and Mrs. Ballington Booth would not have been appointed to the United States. I dwell upon this fact, because I see evidence both in your memorial before me and in the comments of a section of the American press of a supposition that in some way or other the treatment of the present case is exceptional.

I think you will admit that the large measure of success which has been attained by the army is in itself proof that the anticipations of disaster very similar in character to those you seem to entertain, which have nearly always been deprecated and often vigorously opposed, but I think you will acknowledge that the mere existence of the army today in greater strength than ever, is a striking proof that they were necessary to the recognition of its the world and to disciple all nations.

But why such conditions? Not only for the sake of the direct advantages, t exclusive confidence in, or attachment to individuals as your memorials con-vey. It is, I believe I am safe in say-ing, much the same condition as had led an overwhelming majority of your statesmen to object to "third terms" statesmen to object to "third terms" and to do so even when the alternative was admittedly a selection largely deprived of the distinguished gifts belonging to the President, for whom a third term had been proposed.

And the general feels himself all the more bound to this principle and to its equal application in a case where members of his own family are involved. Expediency as well as universal justice demands that it should be made impossible to doubt the impartiality of the general in these great appointments.

But there is one respect especially,

I venture to think in whomeyour memorials reveal a danger which Gen. Booth cannot but regard with sincere regret. He would naturally be the last to depreciate the services of any of his children to the army and to the kingdom of Christ and he has always rejoiced in the children commander and Mrs. ate the services of any of his children to the army and to the kingdom of Christ and he has always rejoiced in any evidence Commander and Mrs. Ballington Booth have shown of their appreciation of America and Americans. But after all they are only among your people by the self-sacrifice and toil or officers of the army, many of them American born, and others of them laboring in the country for years before the present leaders were appointed.

It would, I am confident, be exceedingly distasteful to him to find an effort for the exaltation of his son and daughter based on any want of appreciation and esteem devoted and unselfish men and women who have served under them, and whose toil they should be first to admit, has so largely ministered to their success. I trust that it is not necessary to assure you that we are all intensely awake to the importance to the whole world of the success of the army in America. We always look forward with confidence to the time when your great country, fully informed of and impressed with our world-wide mission, shall furnish no small quota of both men and women for the vaster conquests that still await our. Lord and Master in the eastern world.

To you, as well as to the others who value the work of the army, I would say that the success of the work in the past, both in the United States and other lands, is in itself, your highest ground for confidence that Gen. Booth will receive the divine blessing of his leadership in the future.

To you, str. therefore, and to the genelemen whose names follow yours in the leadership in the future.

REFUSED TEMPTATION. NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—The World to-day will say that Ballington Booth was offered the leadership of an independent offered the leadership of an independent American Salvation Army yesterday. The brigadiers, adjutants and majors, whom he had created in all parts of the country, besought him to become their general. Commander Booth retired for a short time to his private quarters, accompanied by his wife, who had been by his side during all the exciting scenes. They locked the door. They knelt down and prayed for strength. The emissaries came again with their tempting offer. He met them calmly and firmly. He listened to their address, picturing glories of future independence and great results to the cause of religion.

CINCINNATI (O.) February 24.—The United States officers here have looked into the matter of the correspondence between Jackson and Will Wood with reference to the Pearl Bryan case, and reference to the Pearl Bryan case, and are clearly of the opinion that both men are amenable to the law against sending obscene matter through the mails. Inspector Salmon of the Postoffice Department says no action against them has yet been taken, but he is sure a case can be readily made out against Wood, and they are-ready to proceed as soon as the matter is referred to them. The penalty is five years in the penietriary. It is said the State authorities will very likely take action against Wood, believing in that way only can adequate justice be done in his case.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Five hundred lithographers struck today to enforce the recognition of their organization, the abolition of the piece-work system, payment of minimum wages of $18 per week, forty-four hours: pay for overtime, and one apprentice to every five journeymen. The strikers were emjourneymen. The strikers were employed by a lundred firms which do show-printing and general lithographic work. They are members of the International Lithographic Artists' and Engravers' Insurance and Protective Association. The action of the New York branch was expected to precipitate strikes forthwith in all the large cities.

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TIMES.) PORTLAND (Or.,) Feb. 24.-(Special Dispatch.) The Western Packing Company, which commenced the slaughter of range horses here some six months since, have closed their abattoir. They have slaughtered about seven thousand horses in all, and had a market for pickled horseflesh in Antwerp, but, owing to Chicago packers having shipped a lot of flesh from diseased horses, the Belgian government closed the country American horsemeat on February 1. Several tons of pickled horse meat were shipped to Japan as an ex periment, but no market was found there, and it was thrown in the ocean. It was found that the receipts for fertilizer made from the bones, blo and waste meat and from the sale o hides, tails, etc., would not balance the cost of horses and slaughtering, and ar no more meat could be sold at present, no more meat could be sold at present, the establishment was closed. The company say it may reopen next fall, when the range horses are fat, and, if they do, they will establish a market here for the sale of horseflesh, as a number of persons who have tried it have formed a liking for it.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—The directors of the San Francisco and San Joaquin Valley Raliroad have practically completed obtaining all rights-ofway as far south as Merced. In addition to the $20,000 subscribed by the tion to the $20,000 subscribed by the citizens of Stockton for rights-of-way, citizens of Stockton for rights-of-way, the company has had to pay an average of $1000 a mile from Stockton to Merced. The work of procuring rights-of-way between Merced and Fresno will be taken up immediately. The route of the road is such that it bisects a great many sections of land, and this fact, more than anything else, causes a great many owners of land to object and to ask a stiff price from the company for a right-of-way.

The entrance to Fresno is not yet in a satisfactory condition. The directors, however, feel encouraged over the fact that the Supreme Court has granted a rehearing of the writ of mandamus by which the company sought to compel the Town Trustees of Fresno to give them an entrance into the city. The rehearing is set for next Monday.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.-One of the largest gold brick swindles that has ever been perpetrated in Cali-fornia has come to light through the arrest in this city of a man who gave the name of Addison Mills. Mills is said to have secured a loan of $5000 from M. G. Ritchie, a wealthy business man of Oakville, Napa county, and given two worthless bricks said to be valued at $22,000, as security.

Mills told Ritchie a fairy tale about a wonderful gold mine discovered by an Indian, which would yield millions if developed. The gold bricks which were to be given as security for the loan were submitted to a fictitious assayer in league with Mills, who reported that they were worth $22,000. On this statement Ritchie parted with $5000 and took the worthless bricks in return. Mills is said to have been known as Edward Thompson at Oakville. Dr Martyn began his speech with a reference to the inestimable value of the right of suffrage. In the hands of a people the ballot is a weapon of self-defense against would-be tyranny, it is the palladium of liberty. The ballot is a great educational force. The men who take an active part in the world's affairs, be it ever so little, from that very fact learn to talk of the tariff, silver and other weighty things, instead of wasting their time in empty gossip. The ballotbox and the jury-box broaden inevitably the men'al horizon of a people. Since each man has a share in government, to secure a good government the better class must conduct a perpetual campaign of civic education. On each man rests the responsibility of the nation. Are things going wrong? It is the voters' fault. Is there a bad law on the statute book? The public put it there.

Dr. Martyn made a splendid denunciation of the ministers who are too timid and shirking and indifferent to pay attention to politics. He declared that it is their duty to preach the ethical side of politics and that there are times when not to preach politics is not to preach religion. There is a wide-spread, universal need of political preaching, for every city in the land is ruled by one great trinity—the grog-seller, the gambler and the harlot. Boodle and boodlers almost without exception are supreme.

Chicago has shot up into a vast city of 1,700,000 people in less than sixty years. The manner of its growth is a miracle. But as the city swelled in size, its chief magistrates grew smaller and smaller, until at last the Mayor could be seen only through a double magnifying glass. The whole municipal government of the city was honeycombed with corruption. The police force grew rich on what they stole from the city treasury and what they wrung from the vicious as hush-money. Then came a political landsilde. A year ago, a reform Mayor was seated in power and a dozen rascal politicians were sent to Joliet, for once in their lives to serve the people honestly. Chicago is not yet perfect, but she has been improved.

The drink habit and the drink tradare, in Dr. Martyn's opinon, one of the so mittee of the chamber to be held at 230 million to the chamber to be held at 230 million to the chamber to be held at 230 million to the commerce of the co

Will Mine in Venezuela.

ST. LOUIS (Mo.,) Feb. 24.—A party composed of Capt. J. H. Morgan and Julian Bruce of Brunswick, T. A. Legrass of Salisbury, O. W. Morehead of Triplett and T. J. Kelley of Linneus, Mo., left this city last night for the gold fields of Venezuela. The party goes by the way of Washington to get their passports and lettere from Sentor Cockrell to consuls at Caracas and Bolivar City. They will sail from New York city and will go by the way of the Island of Trinidad up the Orinoco

River as far as it is navigable and will then travel overland to the headwaters of that stream in Western Venezuela to the sold fields.

Capta Morgan and party were well supplied with medicine, Winchester rifles and plenty of ammunition and are backed by wealthy capitalists, who will work to develop the mines when logerted.

ALLEGED EMBEZZLEMENT. Rancher in Trouble Through Speculating in Barley.

John Scott, a rancher living nea Whittier, has been arrested on a com plaint sworn to by B. F. Pritchard, proprietor of a grain warehouse at Buena Park, charging him with embezzling $1300. The trouble grew out of a trans-action by which Scott contracted to buy 6900 centals of barley of Pritchard at 50 cents a cental. It seems that the Los Angeles National Bank advanced Los Angeles National Bank advanced 40 cents a cental on the warehouse receipts for the barley, making $2760, last September. Scott paid Pritchard $590 cash, being the difference between the amount contracted for and the amount advanced by the bank. Later there came a slump in barley, and the bank demanded additional security, Scott being compelled to mortgage some mines. Pritchard now claims that he lost $1300 by the transaction, being money intrusted by him with Scott as agent to ballee. Scott has been released on bail, pending his examination on the charge of embezzlement.

Justice D. C. Morrison returned from he northern part of the State yester the northern part of the State yesterday morning, after a week's absence on business. He resumed work on the bench in Department Two of the City Justice Court and held a regular levee during the day, many of his friends calling to pay their respects. The judge's return was further signalized by the bringing of twenty-one new civil suits in his court, an unusually large number of cases to be filed in one day.

Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. S. C. Crane of Duarte contributed some lovely flowers to the Chamber of Commerce yesterday. Other contributions were: Strawberry guavas and fine navel oranges, C. H. Richardson, Pasadena; Washington navel oranges, Mrs. H. W. R. Strong, Whittier, and oranges, the Covina Citrus Association.

Police Officer Ritch had to enlist the services of a tailor yesterday, to repair a pair of trousers for him, the seat of which he lost in a very extraordinary manner. A squad of officers assembled at the Police Station yesterday morning to escort the chain-gang to work. Among them was Officer Ritch, who was having his clothes brushed by Officer Reynolds. The latter rubbed the brush over Ritch's back rather hard, and a blow from the back of the brush discharged his revolver, which was in his hip pocket. The ball tore the seat of his trousers and bored a hole in the cement floor. The flash from the revolver set the officer's clothes afire around the rear portion of his anatomy and he danced around wildly while some of his fellow-officers were looking for a hose to turn upon him and others started to turn in a fire alarm. Fortunately the fire was extinguished without the aid of water, and the unlucky copper congratulated inmself on not being compelled to take a shower bath in addition to the rest of his misfortunes.

A TALLY-HO.

One of the most delightful tally-he parties of the season was given yester-day by Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Howry, in honor of Mr. Howry's sister, Mrs. Buxton, and her husband, Judge J. R. Buxton, of Centralia, Wash., who have been spending the last week in the city, on their way home from the National Editorial Association, which recently met at St. Augustine, Fla. The drive was by way of Pasadena and the poppy fields, to Baldwin's ranch, returning by the San Gabriel Mission. A delicious luncheon was served under the spreading oaks at the ranch, and that ables prettily decorated with masses of poppies and ferns. A CHARMING RECEPTION.

The Woman's Missionary societies of the First Congregational Church were given a charming reception at the residence of Liewellyn Bixby last Friday evening. The house was artisti-cally decorated in the national colors, large flags being draped above the arches in the hall, reception and draw-ing-rooms. The stair railing was woven with red, white and blue bunting, and pepper boughs, and the color combinawith red, white and blue bunting, and pepper boughs, and the color combination was carried out in flowers throughout the rooms. The hostesses, Miss Hathaway and Miss Sarah Bixby, received their guests beneath the arch in the hall.

Coffee was poured from old-fashioned urns, by Miss Keep and Mrs. Perry C. Kofoed. Miscs Keep was quaintly gowned in a rich old brocaded gown. Mrs. Kofoed was charming in a dainty mulle, made in colonial fashion, and occupied a chair which had been in Miss Hathaway's family for over a hundred years.

During the evening, Miss Willis recited charmingly, and Mrs. Kofoed sang the "Star-Spangled Banner," and for an encore, "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean." Throughout the evening music was discoursed by an orchestra composed of the young people from the church. About two hundred responded to the invitations, and the affair was a great success, socially and financially.

NOTES AND PERSONALS. A dinner was given to G. M. in honor of his seventy-second birth-day on Sunday by his daughter, Mrs. day on Sunday by his daughter, Mrs. Guy J. K. The Misses Groff, Mercereau and Carhart, and Messrs. Carhart, McCrea and Widney enjoyed a pleasant picnic at Eaton's Cañon, Sunday.

Mrs. E. N. R. Gavitt of Toledo, O., is now in the city, the guest of Mrs. F. O. Wyman, Bonnie Brae street.

IN THE TOILS AGAIN.

Chronic Jail Bird Once More in Custody.

Deputy Constable Mugnemi had lively tussle on Main street yesterday with a robust specimen of the genus hobo, who was begging. Mugnemi got his sky-blue trousers soiled, but with the assistance of a citizen, he succeeded in over-powering the beggar and landed him in the City Jaw. The prisoner gave the name of George Anderson, but when he was arraigned for vagrancy in the Po-lice Court, Bailiff Appel recognized him as being the same fellow who tried to as being the same fellow who tried to escape from the chain-gang some months ago, by knocking down the driver of one of the city teams. He was sailing under the name of Philips then and had sixty days added to his sentence. Soon after being released from the City Jail he was arrested at Pomona and sent to the County Jail for ten days. At the expiration of his term there he began begging again. He demanded a jury trial yesterday, which was set for March 4. Police Officer Ritch had to enlist the

FARMING IN CALIFORNIA.

There is no doubt but that one erious drawback to the prosperity of California as a whole is the fact that we have, according to our original, carly understanding of the word, no farmers. We have our fruit-growers, our grain-growers, our corn, wheat, barley and bean ranches, but where are our farms—the farms where all the ssities of life are raised? How many are the men who have their wheat and corn and oat crop, their dairy and their poultry yard, their vegetable garden and fat cattle and hogs for the market, all raised on one farm as in New England?

We do things on a gigantic scale in California, there is too much of the one-idea system in practice. We have too much contempt for the day of small things. We desire to do business in a general wholesale way. We make haste to get rich, but not always

It is not from our great ranches that California is to realize a pros perous future. She will find a firm basis for her growth when the divi sion of her immense ranches is accomplished, and our small farms are indefinitely multiplied, and farmers commence to cultivate their farms with a view to raising for themselves all of their necessary supplies. No good farmer, in this country of prolific soil, should be largely dependant upon the market for table comforts and luxuries but he should make the market dependent upon him By pursuing a judicious course in this respect there is no class of men in independence than the California agriculturist, and there is no surer way of adding to the wealth of the State. the line of vegetable gardening to "John," for the money that he makes is rarely retained or invested here. can easily make ourselves independent of him, and the sooner we do it the better will it be for our inter-The sturdy independence, foresight and persistence of the industrious Yankee is an element that we need a little more of in our industrial McKinley strength, which is very great ranks, for it would set things a-humming and materially add to the rapidity of our growth and development. quet held in Lincoln, at which Senator

WINTER ON THE PACIFIC SHORE.

February has been cold at the East, a month of storm and sleet, and deep snows which have interfered both with traffic and with travel There is nothing in Southern California akin to the bluster of an eastern winter. It is difficult for the newcomer to believe that Nature has the some heart here that she has in the East, where she blusters, and freezes, and piles up her snows, and weaves an ice-shroud for her rivers and position. And, above all, I ask that streams. And she is never moody here, as she is there, with weeks of frowning, and nipping frosts and

BURBANK. Every succeeding week of the engagement of the May Nannary company adds to its success and the present play, the "Fire Patrol," is the best that has yet been put on. The title is rather misleading, for there is very little of the fire patrol in the play, although it comes in twice with immense effect. The story begins in Leadville, where Nellie Lattimer, the heroine, is betrayed by a mock marriage with Allen Westford, a rascally adventurer, who plots to marry the daughter of his rich uncle, Rupert Wittimore, and, at the same time, to steal the treasure from the quartz mill. For the success of the last scheme he is forced to call in the aid of an accomplice, Baptismal Lushington Staggeract, who turns out to be a pretty decent sort of rascal after all, and is a line of delightful comedy throughout the melodrama of the plece. The young superintendent of the quartz mill, Dave Armstrong, is in love with Rene Wittimore, and thwarts the matrimonia superintendent of the quartz mill, Dave Armstrong, is in love with Rene Wittlmore, and thwarts the matrimonial schemes of Westford. The robbery succeeds better, but Rupert Wittimore catches the thieves in the act of robbing the treasure chest, and is killed by Westford. Dave Armstrong rushes in only to be stunned by a blow from the butt of Westford's pistol, and thrust under the hammers of the quartz mill, from which, however, he is 'rescued by Jack Dallas, a fearless mountaineer, who is Nelle Lattimer's lover and Armstrong's alter ego. Clyde Hess is exceedingly good as Dave Armstrong, looking and acting the character well throughout. Richard Scott, as the villain, needs killing, and that is the surest token of his success in the part. Rupert Wittimore is very little in evidence, but Frank Cleaves makes the most of him, and E. F. ORPHEUM. Despite the counter attractions at other places of amusement the Orpheum had a houseful last evening, and the usual manifastations of enthusiastic delight were manifest. The bill presents a number of new features this week, some of them quite unique. Lorraine and Howell in an original conception oddity, introducing new feats of contortion and eccentric tricks, were popularly received, but the two trained dogs which came on in the latter part of the act brought down the house with their excellent performance. Grip, the trained buildog, and Jo Jo, the boy-faced dog that rides bareback, were exceptionally good in their display of intelligence. Heely and Marba, grotesque acrobatic comedians, introduced some ludierous and extremely difficult feats that evolved howls of delight from the audience. Miss Tina Corri, English male impersonator, was another new feature. She is very English and very "male" in face and form, but essentially feminine in voice. Walter Stanton performs a novel trick as a giant rooster and participates in a funny cock fight with a trained chanticleer that pleased the beholders immensely. Of the favorites of last week there were Hawley and Doyle, song and dance adepts; DeWitt sisters, musical artists and Miss Rachel Walker, the Creole nightingate, who is operatic singing showed the possession of a

Silver Sells at a Higher Rate Than

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Silver builion sold at the highest price today that it has reached in many months. There was an apparently good consol demand which advanced the rate to 70 cents. The rise was sharp and in sympathy with an upward movement in London. Zimmerman & Forshay and Handy & Harman, builion dealers, and Edward Bush of the Kansas City Smelting and Refining Company, declared that they did not know of any definite cause for the improvement. They did not agree that the advance was due to speculation, or that it would be sustained.

not agree that the advance was due to speculation, or that, it would be sustained.

The facts are that silver sold as low as 59 cents and that the price ranged about 60 for six months. There was, by reason of adverse legislation, material curtailment of production. Shrewd people who knew the commercial value of silver began cautiously buying and accumulating buillion. A large amount has been absorbed for export, a legitimate continental demand having prevailed for a long time. The supply has also been reduced by the demand for manufacturing purposes. For ten months the price was fluctuating about 60 and during the past three weeks and until yesterday, 69 was the quetation. The advance has taken so long as to escape general attention. Simultaneously with the advance came decided improvement in mining stocks, which is regarded as significant of a revival of interest in silver mines and better prospects. The order had its birth in San Francisco eleven years ago. Today it has 10,000 members in California and 15,000 in the Eastern States. A Los Angeles branch of the order was started in 1886, flourished for a few years, and then fell to pieces in the depression following the boom. There was recently a meeting of the grand officers of the institute in San Francisco. At its conclusion, Messrs, J. F. Sullivan, F. J. Murasky, J. J. McDade and John Lynch, all grand officers or past grand officers of the order, resolved to come to Los Angeles to see if the society could not be started here again. On the eve of their departure Judge Sullivan was called East by a telegram, so Frank McGlynn took his place.

These four gentlemen last evening addressed a gathering of about three hundred men. They told of the benefits derived from a body like the Young Men's Institute, and urged that a branch be started in this city.

Bishop Montgomery expressed his hearty commendation of the project. He said that the institute would be broadening and elevating to its members, and would compel respect from people who happened to differ in matters of creed.

Limit for Cheap Books.

(Pittsburgh Dispatch:) Books are getting cheaper and cheaper, and will continue to grow in this way until the limit is reached. What that limit will be it is hard to say. One thing certain: A tolerably good paper-covered book cannot be produced and sold for less than 5 cents. And that will probably be the limit, unless Mr. Stead's 'penny-poet' idea comes over here. But that this is an era of cheap reading matter is undoubted, and we can expect almost anything in the way of cheap-priced literature. In 1830 the first drop in the price of books was made by the issuance of a "library" containing excellent material at 15 cents each. It is true that the size was awkward and the printing was bad. But people were amazed and wondered how the publishers could do it. Ten years ago came the 10-cent libraries, and again the public was surprised at the cheapness of books. Since that time white paper has fallen in value, type-setting machines have materially lessened the cost of composition, presses do speedier and better work, single machines for the folding and binding of books have been invented, and the result is that books can be made for less money, and naturally can be sold for smaller amounts. And the 5-cent novel is the result. The magazines have felt the pressure, and cheaper books account for much of the 10-cent idea in magazines. But, of course, there is a limit, and it is perfectly plain that we must soon reach it. Good work cannot continue to be produced at too small a margin of profit. Authors are paid higher prices than ever, and so are artists. The cost of the mechanical manufacture of the magazine and book has simply come down. Brains come high, and what brains produce is the only thing, after all, that is read.

The grandstand held a thousand people and they were hardly an atom to the general assemblage. The fence around the track was completely lined, often a dozen deep. Therefore there was a solid wall of people over a quarter of a mile long.

The steers were lean, long-horned and, in cowboy parlance, "good rustlers." They ran like deer, and made a pretty fight. One of them charged along the line of people on the fence and made a general scattering.

Steer-tying is done by several cowboys driving an animal out onto the grounds, and when it has 100 yards start the cowboy comes out with wild bounds, swinging his riata around him for twenty feet. He drops the noose over the steer's horns, rides around the terrified animal and jerks its legs from under it. He then descends and ties its legs together. That is the way they do it when they have good juck, but there are many vicissitudes.

The exhibition today was mostly exceptional cases. One steer jumped clear over his rope and refused to be thrown. Another ran as fast as the horse and could not be surrounded by the rope.

Another ran as fast as the horse and could not be surrounded by the rope. As they ran, the horse and the steer, the rope caught one of the guy wires of the high-diver's tower, and that structure tottered, but did not fall. In other cases the riatas missed.

The contestants were not alone from the Arizona ranges. They came also from Texas and Colorado, and gave the Arizona boys one little tip. That was the matter of double cinches. They had double cinches and their saddles were not stripped when the steers held back. On the other hand the Arizona horses were stripped of their saddles back. On the other hand the Arizona horses were stripped of their såddles and the cowboys landed with more or less grace in the dust of the field. The moral of which is, use double cinches. The pretitest tie of the day was made by a Colorado ranger. His first noose slipped, but he was soon after his runaway steer again. The lasso opened wide and dropped gracefully on the horns, and with a quick whirl the rider had the big animal at his mercy. His tying of the four feet together was almost instantaneous. The horse showed intelligence equal to the man's. The best luck came to an Arizona cowboy. He made his graceful swing cowboy. He made his graceful swing round the arena, and got a quick throw The animal did not "rastle" as much as usual and he made a fairly quick tie.

Time 45%s. The record was not approached, being 31s.

ANCIENT PHOENIX. Phoenix got its name from the sup position that it had risen on the asher of a mysterious and wonderful of large numbers, who had disapp earth in an unknown antiquity. There have been wild guesses as to a population of millions, and at the very least hundreds of thousands, who leveled the lands and tilled it by some unknown and marvelous process, built unto themselves mighty cities and peacefully partook of the good things their gods sent them. In fact, except that they were probably not a white race, about as much has been attributed to them as would be to us by the explorer of 4000 A. D., were dire and complete ruin to come to Phoenix today. The truth in the matter may not be exactly arrived at yet, but the work of one student of prehistoric Salt Valley lets the light of reason in on these glowing guesses and brings those ancient and wonderful people down a peg or two.

prehistoric Salt Valley lets the light of reason in on these glowing guesses and brings those ancient and wonderful people down a peg or two.

In fact, Phoenix, as it is today, is probably greater than it ever was in the times of all antiquity. They were probably a crude people given to pageantry, but never was pageantry here before equal to that of the carnival of Phoenix in the year of our Lord, 1896. It is really too bad in Mr. Henshaw to prick holes in these wind-bag theories from the Smithsonian and elsewhere, but he has done it.

A. L. Henshaw is a rancher living near Phoenix, a keen antiquarian not given to moonshine guesses. He gives his opinions of the early Phoenicians thus:

"When Arizona was explored 400 years ago by Coronado, the Salt River country was much the same as it was twenty-eight years ago. The ruins of today were ruins then, only a little less disintegrated. Judging from the difference 400 years made in the Casa Grande, I judge that the inhabitants of this region date back about two thousand years. These inhabitants were Indians and a pastoral people. They were probably the forefathers of the Pimas of today, which tribe their ruins resemble. They were not a warlike people, which fact is demonstrated by the lack of darts and weapons. They were probably at war with the mountain tribes, particularly the devilish Apaches, a hatred that comes strated by the lack of darts and weapons. They were probably at war with the mountain tribes, particularly the devilish Apaches, a hatred that comes age, and had no knowledge of metals. Probably they were given to pageantry and festivals. been found, although I found a hardwood needle in a crack in the Casa Grande.

"I have traced the soil where it has been excavated or washed away in the valley, and found remains of ancient embankments and canals. Above Tempe of today one canal of several miles extent could be traced, while some of the Arizona canals of today utilize a ditch of the ancients. In my opinion, however, these canals were not of volume enough to have supported a people so numerous as has been ascribed to this valley. I doubt if the Indians of the valley were ever much more numerous than they are today.

"Their process of irrigation was the crudest. They had no tools, except of wood or stone, no horses and, of course, no plows. They simply made a canal by gouging it out with sticks. They had no idea of headgates or laterals. Their process was just what might have been expected of a slow, benighted, plodding people. They began their canals from sloughs along the river, and let the water follow to their chosen lands. They then planted their crops, probably of corn, peppers and possibly frijoles. In that day the river-bed was probably eight to twelve feet higher than at present, on a level with the land of the valley, as this method was then feasible. The dead level of the valley I ascribe not as much to the industry of the Indians, which is generally claimed, as to the depositing of silt from the frequent overflows. This view is substantiated by examination of the soil

Phoenix is Barely Past the Season of Carnival — Semething About their crops they constructed embankments, and two or three times a year the water was turned in on all the lands at once. It was then allowed to stand until lost by evaporation or seepage. This method was, of course, very deleterious to the soil. All the mineral and the alkan that is inevitable in the water was deposited, and remained at the surface. In consequence, in a few years the land hecame worthless, and turther back. This would account for the large area under cultivation, although its occupation occurred in different try at it tomorrow.

San Diego is preparing to receive a real live Prince a member of the reignaboard the Italian cruiser Cristoford Colombo. The Prince ought to be a drawing card. All good, law-abiding people were much alarmed some little time ago by the startling news that there was danger the convicts in the Arizona State release on writs of habeas corpus. It is claimed that by some oversight the penitentiary was built in California, feet beyond the edge of Arizona. But the hopes of the jailbirds that they might soon take their flight were rudely disturbed yesterday, when Judge Wellorn rejected the application for a writ of habeas corpus for a convict named Chavez. The decision was a settler, for His Honor gave final reasons for ruling as he did. The opinion states that even if the Yuma prison is in California, the convicts are in legal confinement, for a Territory has a right to keep its prisoners anywhere it confining them at home or farming them out abroad as it likes.

The much-desired and much-needed rain continues to hold off in a most provoking manner. There is still hope that we may get a fall sufficient to give us fair crops of grain and hay. The present might be a good occasion to test the value of the plan of creating a rainfall by producing a heavy concussion high up in the air. This plan which was tested by the govern with varying success in the Southwest several years ago, was first proposed in the columns of The Times about ten years ago by F. J. It is, of course, impossible to create rain when there is no moisture in the air, but on several occasions of late there has been a considerable amount of fog or mist, which might possibly be precipitated by the means

MUSICAL MENTION.

Sousa should feel gratified by the re-ception of himself and his band at Hazard's Pavilion last evening, where fully three thousand people congregated to enjoy a concert that will be long remembered. The programme was made up almost wholly of Sousa's own com-positions, and proved him to be as great a composer as a leader and organizer. The numbers were all enthusiastically received, and during their rendition rereceived, and during their rendition retained the rapt attention of the immense audience, that seemed spell-bound on the perfect harmony. The band is an exceptionally fine musical organization, and is conducted by a master. A number of encores were given in response to voolferous demands. Miss French and Miss Duke, soprano and violinist respectively, added to the favorable impression they made on their previous appearance. The audience was not only large, but was representative of the taste and culture of Los Angeles. The members of the Woman's Orchestra formed a party in full dress, and they presented to Sousa a beautiful floral harp. Blanch ard & Fitugerald, to whom the public is indebted for bringing the Sousa Concert Band to Los Angeles, are being congratulated on the success of their excellent management.

Hit with a Brick.

A man giving the name of J. Cummings applied at the Receiving Hospital for medical treatment yesterday evening. He had a badly discolored and swollen eye, which he said he received by being hit with a brick at a grading camp outside the city where he was employed. It seems there was a row of some kind at the camp in which brickbats and other weapons of offense and defense figured, and Cummings was luckless enough to get hit with one of the flying missiles. He did not give the name of his assailant.

THE FAMOUS OLD PANAMINT MINE

Working the Hillside Mine-Riel in Sonora, Mex.-Mining Near Calico-Promising

J. W. Keeny of Riverside has relocated the once celebrated Panamint mines, in the southern part of Inyo county. There was once a town of several thousand inhabitants at Panamint. It was famous as the base of supplies of the silver king, Senator John P. Jones, who worked the mines twenty years ago, when silver was in demand. From September, 1875, to May, 1876, a period of eight months, the yield of the mines was $344,333.82, or an average of $33,259.20 per month. Although the price of silver has declined, Mr. Keeny thinks there is still an enormous profit to be made by working the old Panamint mines. The company has thirteen mines. The company has thirteen claims in all, some silver and some gold, one of the latter promising very rich results when developed. One clean-up in the Marvel showed 1969.73 ounces of silver to the ton. The mills of the old company, under the Jones régime, are still there and have been leased by the new company. new company.

The old Hillside mine has again been started up, it having reverted to the original owners, Jack Lawler and Judge Wells of Prescott. This mine at one time had the reputation of being the richest silver mine in the world, and attracted a great deal of attention. It was sold for $800,000 and partially paid for when some troubles arose over the balance of the purchase price. The ore is of a very high grade, requiring watchmen and armed guards to protect it in transit. It is the hope of the present owners to soon ship a carload per day. The ore carries good value in gold, although the great value is silver.

The Grand Central mine at La Colorado, in the Mexican State of Sonora, was recently sold for $150,000, Howell Hines and his associates buying it from F. H. Seymour and those associated with him. Eight hours after the deal was closed Mr. Seymour received a telegram that a representative of an English syndicate was on the way to La Colorado, prepared to pay him $500,000 for the property, and every effort was made to induce him to refuse to convey the property to Mr. Hines; but with a fairness extremely rare the gentleman refused to break his word. When the English syndicate representative arrived at La Colorado he offered Mr. Hines $50,000 in gold to release Mr. Seymour from his contract, but the offer was declined and the transfer was made. It is stated that the would-be purchaser (R. R. Symon, vice-president of the Sonora railway) then offered Mr. Hines one million dollars in gold for the Grand Central and Amarillas mines and the two mills belonging to them, but this offer was likewise de-Mr. Hines one million dollars in gold. for the Grand Central and Amarillas mines and the two mills belonging to them, but this offer 'was likewise declined. Mr. Hines at once took possession of the Grand Central, set a large force of men at work making necessary alterations and repairs, and will soon have that great mine numbered among the steady bullion producers of Sonora's greatest gold camp. In this connection it is stated that recently a map of the camp was sent on to London, with a full account of the output and workings, and that after careful study and comparison experts there pronounce the Prietas fode as greater than the Transvaal, in South Africa.

John K. There was a big mining transfer in San Diego county the other day. The Champlon, Golden Bell, Mina de Oro, Fortune, Painted Rock, Mount Pedro, Silver King and Horseshoe mines in Old Pichacho district, were sold to the Gold Basin Mining and Milling Company for $1,000,000.

The Defendant Tells All About What

A trial that was somewhat unique took place yesterday in Justice Wilson's court at San Gabriel, when José Antonié Baca was examined on the charge of ascaulting Carlos Corona with a deadly weapon. The row took place at Santa Anita, and Baca was arrested at Redlands. When the examination took place, it was found that every witness of the affray, including the man whose life had been placed in such deadly peril, had been so drunk at the time that he had not the smallest recollection of what had transpired. The defendant finally climbed on the stand and told the story himself. It turned out to be so innocuous that Deputy Dist-Attv. Willis recommended that the original complaint be dismissed and the man be given a light sentence for battery. trial that was somewhat uniqu

Thirty-three Washington's Birthday Jags Accounted For.

It was drunk day in the Police Court yesterday. Thirty-three jags of as-sorted sizes had to be accounted for. Washington's birthday was responsible for a good many of them. The patriotic who celebrated so exuberantly citizen who celebrated so exuberantly last Saturday was very meek and lowly yesterday as he sat in the prisoners' dock and wondered at the bigness of his head. Perhaps not again before St. Patrick's day will he let his patrictism get the better of him. The Judge was exceedingly lenient, apparently taking into consideration that it was a national holiday and a gala day in Los Ancelos. He did not slap on any fines ex-were assessed $5 and all the rest got off with the payment of tres pesos, or three days in the chain-gang.

Among the $3 victims was Prof. Melhofer, who wears his hair a la Paderewski, and, like Paderewski, plays the plano. The professor is a recent arrival from San Francisco, and was looking for a job as planist in some salcon or restaurant, or any place where good music is in demand. Unforunately, he looked too frequently into salcons for work, and upon the beer where it was foaming in the glass. The result was that the professor's silk hat got trampled in the dust and he was carted off to the Police Station to sleep off his jag. Not having the three plunks necessary to settle with the court he would have languished in a foul dungeon for three days, where no music is heard save the rattle of the jaller's keys and the curses of the prisoners, but Balliff Appel took pity on the old man and persuaded the court to give the professor a chance to get out and hustle for the coln. The old musician was profuse in his thanks and promised to return with the money in three days.

A boy named Charles Laramie got a twenty-days' sentence for jumping on and off cars in motion, but sentence was suspended during good behavior.

Royal O'Brien and Joe Sleany, two bicycle-riders who did not find the street wide enough for them, were fined $5 each for riding on the sidewalk. They were arrested by Officer Baker.

Jung Yo, an ill-favored and indecent Mongolian "masher," pleaded guilty to the charge of disturbing the peace, and was fined $30. Yo's offense consisted in grabbing white women on the street and attempting to caress them.

George Robinson was held in $1000 ball to answer the charge of burglary. He is accused of stealing an alarm clock from a room in the St. Charles House.

An Ostrich Fight.

An Ostrich Fight.

Two of the largest ostriches at the Norwalk ostrich farm yesterday fell out about something. They were together in the same corral, and at once set to work to annihilate each other. The battle was a bloody one, and will probably result in the death of one of them, called "The Marquis."

As soon as the birds commenced fighting, their keeper tried to separate them, but met the usual fate of repeacemaker, receiving a dangerous kick on the leg. The "high kickers" then continued their fight, and it was not until "The Marquis" was severely wounded and hardly able to stand up that he gave up, and it is extremely doubtful whether he will survive. There are now on the Norwalk farm 150 full grown birds, and fights between the old cocks frequently occur, but seldom with such dangerous results. The value of the wounded bird is about $125.

City Hall for the past two weeks. City Hall for the past two weeks.

The Council's recent action in cutting the water rates 331-3 per cent., and then extending the cut to 50 per cent., the whole proceeding being evidently considered an excellent joke by the Councilmen, has given rise to so much unfavorable comment and criticism that the municipal Solons yesterday acknowledged the foolishness of their previous misdeeds, by recalling from the Mayor the ordinance which provided for a cut of 50 per cent., and after some few words of explanation from divers Councilmen adopting a new ordinance, which will reduce the water rates about 15 per cent., if its provisions are such as can be enforced. The cut of 15 per cent., or thereabouts, is not an arbitrary reduction, as the Council considered each item of the ordinance separately, in some instances making the cut much greater than 15 per cent. As fixed by the Council yesterday, the water rates for 1896 will be as indicated in the ordinance, which follows: onsidered an excellent joke by the

AFTERNOON SESSION

Contract Awarded for the Paving of Main Street.

The Council, yesterday, upon the recommendation of the Board of Public Works, awarded the contract to pave Main street to J. T. Long. The vote to award the contract was unanimous main street to J. T. Long. The vote to award the contract was unanimous. Councilman Savage, during the session yesterday, created a mild sensation by taking the floor and denouncing a certain member of the Police Commission, who, he declared, is responsible for a very queer state of affairs on Alameda street. The Councilman from the Eighth Ward made an inspection of the "Tenderloin district" Sunday evening and found policemen patroling the street and preventing visitors from entering any of the cribs save those manipulated by the notorious Theodore Bauer. Councilman Savage, in view of this condition of things, moved yesterday that the Police Commission be instructed to make the blockade of the street universal.

This motion precipitated a lively discussion of the social-evil problem, and the present Police Commission, as well. Councilman Savage was advised finally to tell his troubles to the Police Commission, which has the regulation of these matters, instead of the Council, and there the matter was allowed to rest.

THE COURTS. Ballerino's Property Released fro

the Restraining Order. Bartolo Ballerino appeared in Judge McKinley's court yesterday by his at-torney, Horace Bell, Esq., to ask for a dissolution of the injunction issued torney. Horace Bell, Esq., to ask for a dissolution of the injunction issued to prevent him from disposing of any of his property during the pendency of the divorce suit brought against him by his wife. Mrs. Ballerino was represented by J. Marion Brooks, Esq., and the Ballerino family quarrel was aired in a series of affidavits which were somewhat amusing.

The divorce was applied for on the ground of infidelity, a Belgian woman on Alameda street being named as the co-respondent, and a restraining order was granted to prevent the alienation of any of the community property. In the answer Ballerino asserts that he has always been a kind, loving and indulgent husband, and unimpeachably true to his wife. He opines that she has been misled by malevolent advisers, being an innocent woman, and says that if he were only allowed to explain matters to her it would be easy to effect a reconciliation. He furthermore earnestly desires the release of his property from the injunction, that certain improvements may go on, and that he may sell 200 tons of baled hay and collect his rents.

improvements may go on, and that he gray sell 200 tons of baled hay and collect his rents.

Mrs. Ballerino, in a counter-affidavit, declares that she is acting quite of her own free will and accord, and that, in order to better meet the wiles of her husband, she always talks to him in the presence of her children. She says that the old gentleman's schemes of improvement are wild and visionary, not ably the excavation of certain fish-ponds, which became a positive nuisance before they were finally abandoned. As to the rents, Mrs. Ballerino a serts that the most profitable portion of the estate, that fonting on Alameda street and Nigger Alley, brings in an income of about $500 a month, and that her liege lord allenated a portion of these rents, putting them in the hands of "Ama," a Belgian woman, for collection and remitting the rent of "No. 5," the residence of the fair Belgian, by putting a cross opposite the item in his accounts.

Ballerino retorts that the women putting a cross opposite the item in his accounts.

Ballerino retorts that the women in the "cribs" objected to having the rents-collected by a man, and asked for a woman collector, so he took the task out of the hands of his collector, Charles Miller, and intrusted it to the Belgian, who was a sober and reliable person. He intends to improve the Alamedastreet property by the erection of more diminutive lodging-houses, and expects to realize 100 per cent, on the investment, as the rental of each room amounts to $2 per day.

As to the fish-ponds, they were built about the time of the bombardment about the time of the bombardment and the sequences of the second second about the time of the bombardment of Fort Sumter by Beauregard, and were improved about five years ago in order that small boys might have the privilege of swimming in them at the rate of 10 cents a swim.

The entire property is valued at $326 - 600, but is mostly real estate acquired by hard work and strict economy. Judge McKinley ordered the receiver to be discharged and the restraining order to be modified so as merely to prevent the alienation of the real estate He also issued a citation to show cause should not pay alimony and counsel fees.

Evaristo Chavez was sentenced thirteen months imprisonment in Territorial Prison by the District Co of the Fourth Judicial District of Territory of Arizona, for selling lique to an Indian. In accordance with ecree, Chavez was immured in the Yuma prison. But now arose an interesting ques-tion. The Mexican's lawyer, Calvert Wil-son, asked for a writ of habeas cor-pus for his client, claiming that Chavez pus for his client, claiming that Chavez was illegally confined. Mr. Wilson declared that the judgment had sentenced Chavez to imprisonment in "the Territorial Prison, at Yuma, Arizona Territory," while, in point of fact, the prison was situated not within the Territory of Arizona, but 500 feet, more or less, from the boundary line of the Territory and within the State of California.

or less, from the boundary line of the Territory and within the State of California.

Judge Wellborn's opinion replies that there is no allegation that California makes now or has ever made any claim to the land upon which the prison stands, but, on the contrary, Arizona is now in possession of the prison and exercises authority over it, and has no other territorial prison, and the prison is claimed by the town of Yuma to be within its corporate limits and subject to its municipal authority.

The sole ground on which the claim for the writ is based is the alleged fact that Yuma-prison is outside of the Territory of Arizona.

The Judge says that the court, in this proceeding, ought not to enter upon the inquiry into the question of boundary. Beyond question Chavez is confined in the prison designated in the sentence. Even were the State of California asserting claim to the land on which the prison stands, it would then be simply a question of disputed boundary, and, on a writ of habeas corpus, the court would not undertake to determine where the exact line is situated, but, finding Arizona in possession of, and exercising authority over, the disputed ground, and using the same as its prison, would assume, for the purposes of this application, the locality in question to be within the limits of Arizona.

But the opinion goes on to say that

KEEPS HIS JOB The Stockholders in an Irrigation

Company Will Be Protected.
Judge Wellborn yesterday denied the motion made by the Colorado Rives Irrigation Company and others, defend ants, in the suit brought by James C. Aiken et al., that the receiver appointed for that company by the court be de Alken et al., that the receiver appointed for that company by the court be deposed.

The opinion states that the receiver was appointed not to wind up the affairs of the corporation, but that through him the property of the corporation might be collected and preserved to meet the equitable charge or lien which the plaintiffs insist they will ultimately establish against such property. It is the ordinary stock-holders' action, says the opinion, to stop, according to the allegations of the bill, fraudulent and illegal transactions of the company and to compel an accounting from certain directors for profits unlawfully realized by them through breaches of their fiduciary obligations and to procure the rescission of a fraudulent contract and the cancellation of certain spurious stock.

The opinion relates that the directors thus charged with betrayal of their trust are made parties to the bill. It says that while it is against one of these directors, John C. Beatty, that the stockholders chiefly desire to be protected, yet the other directors are alleged to be merely instruments and tools of Beatty, and furthermore that Beatty perpetuates his control by means of spurious stock.

The opinion discusses exhaustively the question of the original right of the court to appoint a receiver, and shows by various authorities that this action was entirely proper. And so, having demonstrated that the court cotted correctly in annotating a receiver and so the court to appoint a receiver, and shows by various authorities that this action was entirely proper. action was entirely proper. And so, having demonstrated that the court acted correctly in appointing a receiver, the motion to dissolve the injunction and vacate the order appointing a receiver is denied. Furthermore the demurrer of the defendants to the complaint is overruled.

THE SUPREME COURT.

THE LATEST DECISIONS. Eight Opinions Sent Down in

In the cause of D. O. McCarthy vi he Mount Tecarte Land and Wate Company, an action to recover money alleged to have been expended by plain-tiff for the use of defendant, judgment went for the plaintiff, and the defendant unt for the use of defendant, judgment went for the plaintiff, and the defendant corporation appeals. The Supreme Court reverses the judgment and order denying a new trial and grants a new trial. There are two counts in the complaint. In the first it appeared that on September 11, 1891, the defendant was indebted to the plaintiff for $10.050.07, expended before the time for the use of the defendant corporation, and that the company agreed and promised to pay it. The second count is for $23,000, in payment for alleged services by McCarthy as general manager of the defendant corporation.

The court found, on the first count, that the account of $10,050.07 was accepted by the defendant and $2000 paid upon it, leaving a balance due of $8050.07 with interest, for which amount judgment was rendered. The company contends that the finding of this account was against both law and evidence and the contention is sustained. The statement on motion for a new trial shows that 65,000 shares of stock were

If startled at any time when I had anything in my hand I would drop it. Had great pain between my shoulders, passing up the spine to the base of the brain. I thought before I got the belt I would have to give up my business entirely, but now I can do my work with pleasure. A Natural Help.

No other remedy can be used with such certainty of good results, such pleasure and convenience by women, as this famous Electric Belt. Nothing so closely touches the source of nearly all their troubles—the nervous system. In a quiet, soothing manner it adds vital force to the weakened nerves; while the patient rests at night it stores new life in the body. It gives an always perceptible electric current, but having a regulator by which this power is controlled it can be made so mild and soothing that the patient sleeps peacefully while it is building up a new and vigorous womanhood. The pamphlet, which is free, gives an interesting description of its action, and cites many cures. Woman, victim of drugs, this is a natural remedy for you. Call and see, and test it.

GRAND JURY REPORT

Expensive Justice Courts - Over-charges of Reporters-Added Expense in Assessor's Office. Jails Scored.

The final report of the grand jury was given out late yesterday afternoon, being finally approved by Judge Smith after reconsideration by the grand jury. A good deal of fault was found in the first report which was considered unnecessary and ill-advised by Judge Smith, but some of the statements have been modified by giving the reasons for the increased expenditure, notably in the case of the Assessor's office. Following is the report in full:

Our examination of the Treasurer's books covers the period from June 1, 1894, to December 31, 1895, inclusive. There was cash on hand June 1, 1894, 1894, 1895, 1

COUNTY TAX COLLECTOR.

In the examination of the books of E. E. Hewitt, ex-County Tax Collector, we find sixty-one items uncollected, running in amounts from 4 cents to $13.34, amounting in the aggregate to $241.64, while in nineteen cases there was overpaid from 10 cents to $21.92, amounting to $38.09. For the former sum we believe the estate of said Hewitt should be held responsible to the county, and in the latter cases compelled to reimburse the taxpayers who overpaid.

The clerks in this department are required to work eight full hours per day, from 8 to 12 a.m. and from 1 to 5 p.m. HORTICULTURAL COMMISSIONER. HORTICULTURAL COMMISSIONER.

Our examination extends from January, 1894, to December, 1895, inclusive. The Horticultural Commission of the county consists of one member, and is under $3000 bonds for the faithful performance of his official duties. It is his duty to give notice to an orchardist or fruit-grower whose trees need fumigating, requiring such person to do such needed work, and if not so done the Commissioner shall have the work done on behalf of the county, and render an itemized bill for such service. The Horticultural Commissioner is required to make an itemized and verified report to the Board of Supervisors on the first of each month, showing all-services performed and all expenditures made during the preceding month. He must file monthly duly verified and itemized demands for all disbursements made and for all expenses incurred by him.

On the bill presented to the Orchardist by the Horticultural Commissioner for fumigating his trees or other service is printed the rates fixed by the Board of Supervisors, as follows:
Cyanide of potassium, 10 per cent.
Sulphuric acid. 10 per cent. shove ade and for all expenses incurred by Sulphuric acid, 10 per cent. above cost.

Wear and tear, 15 per cent. on gross amount of bill, outside of hauling.

Foreman, not exceeding 40 cents per hour. Helper, not exceeding 25 cents per hour.

Labor, repairing tools, not exceeding

Labor, repairing tools, not exceeding 25 cents per hour.

Miscellaneous labor, not exceeding 20 cents per hour.

Supplies for this department are purchased by the Horticultural Commissioner without advertising for bids, and the claims are presented to the Board of Supervisors and go through the usual course. We find there was received and expended for the two years 1894 and 1895, the following sums:

Commissioner's salary $1394. 1896.
Inspectors' salaries $5,743.22 5,599.31
Tents, stationery and merchandise $1,599.31
Funigating and $2,599.31 unigating and eradicating thistles 3,537.60 735.49

$13,947.68 $14,998.53 13,947.68 $28,946,21

Net expenses, two years $20,560,98

Net expenses, two years $20,560,98

We find outstanding claims in this department amounting to $10,515,17. Some of these claims reach back into 1893. Why these claims have not been collected we are not able to say.

We would recommend a more careful supervision of supplies; that the same be purchased through the Board of Supervisors, by bids, so as to take advantage of competition.

The Horticultural Commissioner put in a claim for "per diem" for every day in the year excepting Sundays and holidays. He has not itemized his claims as required by law, but puts in a demand for a gross number of days for each month without specifying dates. SHORTHAND REPORTERS AND

JUSTICES' COURTS.

The examination extends from July 1. 1894, to December 31, 1895, inclusive, during which time the claims paid for shorthand reporters for the Superior Court in criminal cases was $7005.95. The examination for the same period for shorthand reporters in justices courts in criminal cases were $12,767.45. The fees paid justices during this time amount to $10,991.70; paid to constables (faes), $20,997.23; paid to interpreters, $505, making a total cost for justices courts and constables in criminal cases, $45,261.33. The fees turned into the county treasury during this time by justices of the peace were $5384.90, showing a net cost to the taxpayers for the eighteen months of $38,876.48.

We find in the claims for shorthand reporters about forty demands paid to Frank W. Cherry upon the certificate of D. C. Morrison, one of the Police Judges of Los Angeles city, that the work was performed and the money due and unpaid.

The amounts of these overpayments run from $1 to $53.20, aggregating the sum of $349.40.

We believe that the responsible parties should be held for these amounts, and the same collected by law from them. The examination extends from July them.

We find J. D. Fennessy was paid the sum of $60.20 in excess of the legal fees he was entitled to, for shorthand work done in the justices' courts of numerous justices in the county; overcharges in twenty-three cases running from $60 cents to $12. We recommend these sums also be collected from the responsible of some justices to certify to the claims of shorthand reporters without examining into the correctness of the same. Without these certificates the warrant will not be issued and the money cannot be drawn from the treasury. These certificates are official acts, and the justices should be held responsible in all cases where they have certified to overcharges.

In the constables' accounts we find many cases of small overcharges and overpayments, which are now in the hands of the District Attorney and will no doubt be collected.

These departments cost very large sums of money, and the closest scrutiny should be exercised by the Board of Supervisors in allowing these claims.

COUNTY ASSESSOR.

The assessment years of 1894 and 1895

The assessment years of 1894 and 1895 were covered by our examination. The law and the State Board of Equalizalaw and the State Board of Equalization require more of the Assessor's office each year. One notable increase in the requirements for 1896 is that with the assessment of each of the 25,000 to 35,000 pieces of property sold for taxes, and yet unredeemed, there must be entered the fact of such sale as a notification to the person paying taxes on such property. The difference in the work of the Assessor's office between the years 1893, 1894 and 1895 is expressed in the following figures:

On examination of the personal property tax received by the Assessor, we find $5.12 due the county from ex-Assessor Gray for 1894, and 65 cents due from sor Gray for 1894, and 65 cents due from the present Assessor for 1895. We find that $17,255.59 is still in the hands of Mr. Summerland, pending the decision of the Supreme Court. The case involves the constitutionality of the law of the last Legislature relieving the counties of the second class from paying the 6 per cent. commission on personal property collections, and the 15 per cent. on poll-tax collections, and the $5 per hundred on names on the millitary roll, all of which have heretofore been and in other counties still are allowed the Assessor in addition to his salary.

are allowed the Assessor in addition to his salary.

Too many omissions were found of parties assessed in the city and omitted in the county.

In the assessment of personal property we find some notable differences between the city assessment and the county assessment, the aggregate amount from eighteen selected cases is $72,823, in which the county assessment appears less than that of the city.

We disapprove the sending of poll-tax notices before the poll-tax list is sufficiently written up to secure at least approximate accuracy in such notices.

We recommend that work requiring so much care as that of verifying the index be done only by those most accurate and should not, therefore, as in the past, be let to the lowest bidder. As a safeguard against embezzlement in collection of personal-property tax we recommend the use of the form of receipt and stub similar to that used by the United States government for money orders.

We believe it would be to the interest of all taxpayers if the assessment of real estate was made by description.

The County Farm is in excellent condition. The supplies are of good quality, the food plentiful, and the inmates well cared for The farm seems well managed and, we understand, goes far toward self-support. We believe that if about one hundred acres of good land were purchased and added to the farm it would become party or quite self-supporting. become nearly or quite self-supporting, and we would recommend that such purchase be made if it can be done at reasonable price.

COUNTY HOSPITAL. We made two visits to the County Hospital. At the time of the first visit we found much that was unsatisfactory, particularly in the food and its service and matters of cleanliness. It seems to us that sufficient distinction was not made in the food served to patients of different degrees of illness, and that the supprision of the supplies had been such that meats and groceries were received and used which were inferior to those called for in the contracts.

were inferior to those called for in the contracts.

At out later visit, just made, we found a great improvement. The dining-rooms, kitchen, storerooms and supplies were in good condition and the food seemed better, and better adapted to the needs of the patients. We commend the present nurse system as the best the hospital has had. A large elevated reservoir has just been completed, which will give available water in case of fire.

We cannot too strongly recommend that the hospital be connected with the city sewer system as soon as possible.

COUNTY JAIL.

COUNTY JAIL. We find the County Jail in good condition, but overcrowded at times. We recommend that young boys who are detained there should be kept by them-selves as far as possible, and not be al-lowed to mingle with the older crim-CITY JAIL.

The Los Angeles City Jail we found as well kept, and in as good a condition as the over-crowded state would allow. There are crowded into it twice as many inmates as there should be. We take pleasure in congratulating the city on the fact that they are to soon have a better jail and more commodious police headquarters.

PASADENA JAIL.

PASADENA JAIL. The jall at Pasadena was found in a had condition—too small, unclean and unfit for its purposes. Later, we find that it has been improved since investigation was made.

POMONA JAIL. The Pomona Jail seems well adapted to its purpose; that of being a "terror to evil-doers."

COUNCIL MEETING.

A Great Amount of Street Work in Progress.

Owing to the absence of Mr. Washburn, and the resignation of Mr. Lukens, the Council was today reduced to a bare working majority. Trustees kens, the Council was today reduced to a bare working majority, Trusiees Weed, Hamilton and Cox being present, The City Clerk reported that as the time for protest upon the establishment of the grade on Colorado street had expired the Council might now take action. The report of the commissioners upon the benefits and damages, was accordingly approved, and the grade will be officially ordered established.

today, for protest, and the matter will accordingly be set for hearing next Monday.

Ordinances establishing the grade on a portion of Orange Grove avenue, a portion of Waverly Drive, and upon that part of Gordon Terrace between Bellevue and Waverly Drive passed the first-reading.

A resolution of intention affecting South Euclid avenue between Grant and California street passed the board. A resolution of intention to improve Cypress avenue from Orange Grove to the north city limits falled of approval, and was laid upon the table for consideration. It was explained that, with the exception of one or two pieces of property, that portion of Cypress avenue beyond the hill was all vacant property, and, since there would without doubt be a majority protest against the work, it was as well to save the city the expense of the publication of the resolution. The bond of M. H. Weight as commissioner, signed by A. O. Bristol and W. T. Grimes as sureties, was approved.

J. B. Hughes was awarded the contract on Feoria street, the grade to cost 30 cents per foot, the curb 28, and the gutter 13 cents. Gray Bros. & Ward were the lowest bidders on the California-street work, at the following figures: Grade 13 cents, gutter 13, curb 29 cents per lineal foot and sidewalk 10½ cents a square foot.

Judge Weed offered the following resolution, which was adopted: "Resolved, that the head of each department of the city government, the board of library trustees and the committee having in charge the sewer farm, be, and are, hereby instructed to file with the City Clerk, as soon after March 1, 1896, as possible, a report showing the work of their respective departments for the year ending February 29, 1896, and be instructed to file these with the City Clerk on or before March 1." In offering the resolution, Judge Weed said that he thought that it was due the out-going Council that such a report should be made, printed and distributed. He said that if there were any committee or individuals that thought they smelled boodle, these reports would be settlers, and as for himself he courted the fullest investigation.

OBSTRUCTING THE STREET. Citizens Still Kicking About the

There is a great deal of complaint at the manner in which the electric road is obstructing passage along Colorado street, at the corners of both Raymond and Fair Oaks avenues. For a couple of weeks the gang of men has been at work placing switches and turns, and work placing switches and turns, and has torn up the asphaltum, covering the street with loose boards, forming an insecure passage across the street for vehicles and foot passengers.

With a practical obstruction at the corner of Colorado and Raymond, and before completing the job begun there, the men this afternoon began tearing up the asphaltum at the corner of Fair Oaks and Colorado. Piles of debris are left in the middle of the street, until such time as the company sees fit to remove it, and passengers at the corners mentioned are put to great inconvenience.

It is not to the interest of the road

venience.

It is not to the interest of the road, and certainly not to that of the business men in the vicinity, that the street should be obstructed, and the suggestion is made that the company should put a large force of men at work and end the uncomfortable state of things that now exists as soon as possible.

BUSINESS.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

OFFICE OF THE TIMES, Los Angeles, Feb. 24, 1896.

BANK CLEARINGS. The clearings of the Los Angeles banks last week aggregated $893,061, as compared with $881,998 for the corresponding week of 1895. Considering that Saturday was holiday, this is an excellent showing.

A FINANCIAL LESSON. The Finan

A FINANCIAL LESSON. The Financler, New York, has some pertinent remarks in respect to the last government loan. It characterizes it as a magnificent response of the country to Secretary Carlisle's call for money, and a refutation of the doctrine that a debased currency is the desire of a majority of the people, while it is also a demonstration of faith in the integrity of the Unit.d States. The Financier then says:

"For years we have had France's proud experience in meeting her financial crises pointed out to us as the very acme of national patriotism. The United States has surpassed the record of France, and has shown that, no matter what transient financial vagaries may sweep over the land, the central and the controlling sentiment, is in favor of the best money and a perpetuation of our credit at the very pinnacle of international honesty. But while we may well congratulate ourselves on this score, the fundamental erro.s which have brought about the necessity of a bond loan should not be forgotten. The causes that led to the treasury depletion exist today as much as they did before, and, operating according to an infiex'ble rule, they are bound to bring about exactly the same results. It is a matter for regret that a reform in our curency laws cannot awaken the same enthusiasm that an appeal to the people on sentimental grounds is bound to arouse."

COMMERCIAL.

THE ORANGE BUSINESS. Recent reports from Florida confirm the opin-ions already expressed that it will be at least five years before that State again becomes an active competitor of California in the orange-growing business. Other things being equal, Southern California should have had this year one of the best seasons in the history of orange-growing, but other things have not been equal. Apart from the frost, which did so much damage in a leading section, there have been uperpected importations of oranges. in a feeding section, there have been unexpected importations of oranges from foreign countries, notably from the Mediterranean and Jamaica. Souththe Mediterranean and Jamaica. Southern California orange-growers are talking of taking steps to induce Congress to affix an adequate duty on oranges. The demand is a reasonable one and all growers should give it their support. The incoming of a new administration will doubtless make a big difference to the horticulturists of Southern California, as well as to those engaged in many other lines of industry.

apart for the purpose with a system of levees it would furnish dumping ground for an immense amount of debris, as much as the miners would produce in twenty years, and in no way could it injure the farmers in the valleys."

It is proposed that a fund of $500,-000 should be furnished jointly by the State and the government for the purpose of constructing such works as might be necessary to cerry out this plan of taking care of the debris. One advantage of a satisfactory solution of the question would be that it would not only permit resumption of placer mining, but would also improve the Sacramento River, which has been filling up so rapidly of late as to threaten before long to become impassable in some places.

While Southern California is not as fore long to become impassable in some places.

While Southern California is not at present directly interested in the question of hydraulic mining, the importance of the question to the State at large is such as to make it interesting to all citizens who have the best interests of the State at heart. Then again, hydraulic mining is likely to be started at any time in Southern California; in fact, there has for many years been a plan under consideration for the working of a big placer deposit in this manner, near Elizabeth Lake, in the Antelope Valley.

CHICAGO, Feb. 34.—Wheat benefited by its rest from Friday to this morning, as seen in the vigor and strength with which it inangurated the week's-business. May, which was worth 64/664% at the close Friday, was in demand at the opening at from 65/665%, and took but a short exercise of its recuperative energies to get the price up to 65%. The strength was due to the advance of 4/40 on Saturday at Liverpool and a further 4/40 advance today, and to the fact that nearly every commission house having foreign connections has buying orders at the opening. The report from Washington that the Agricultural Bureau had advices from Argentine confirming the reported poor crops there was also an interest of the strength when the confirming the reported poor crops there was also an interest on the following the reported poor crops there was also an interest on the following the fol

"The success of our electric-light system is attracting attention from many different directions. Riverside's Trustees were very well pleased with it. Santa Ana people are considering the propriety of following the example of our City Board and arranging to own their own lights, and from all who have investigated our system comes the verdict that it is one of the best and most successful plants in the State. The Board of Trustees may well feel proud of their work in putting in and maintaining a plant that is commanding the admiration of all who have seen it and become acquainted with its successful operation."

"The work has progressed on the ditch as favorably as could be expected under the circumstances. Culvert No. 11 at Upper Santa Ana and the gate between the tunnels were completed on Thursday. The sand-trap above culvert No. 31 is well under way, and-will be finished about next Thursday. After the completion of the work the water will be turned into the ditches for the relief of the irrigators unless rain should intervene. The cementing of ditch B, near Mr. Osburn's, is well along, and other parts of the work will be taken up in order. On account of the lack of rain it is now the intention of the superintendent to turn the water back into the ditches next Thursday evening, sixteen days after it was turned out. Later on in the spring it will be necessary to turn the water out again for ten days to complete the work. In the meantime, it may rain."

POMONA, Feb. 24.—(Regular Correspondence.) The trial of the case of the city of Pomona against the Orange Grove Street Railway Company will come up in Judge McKinley's court in Los Angeles next Friday. The suit is for condemnation of the tracks of the railroad through Second street (the main business thoroughfare here.) as a public nuisance, so that the tracks and ties may be torn up and the part of the street occupied by them may be paved similarly to the pavement on either side. The company recently submitted a proposition to the City Trustees to abandon the suit and give the company a charter to build street railway out to the Pomona Cemetery, and, in return, the company was to pave at its own expense, the territory now occupied by it on Second street. Several of the Trustees smile at this proposition, and say they are not fish enough to swallow such bait. They argue that if the street railway company, which has all along pleaded poverty as the excuse for its not doing the business part of town, has now sufficient money to build a new railroad a mile or two out to the cemetery, it ought not to ask a year to do the asphalt paving which it should have done long ago. City Attorney Owen says that the trustees will decide on next Tuesday evening whether to accept the offer of the Orange Grove Street Railway Company, but it is believed the trustees will not listen to the proposition. Meanwhile the Street Superintendent has been having wagon loads of earth drawn, and once more the old rails and ties on Second street have been buried. It is about two months since a car was run over the line, but such periods of cessation of traffic by the company are common. During the past year the company has run a car over the road less than four months. The rolling stock of the company consists of one ramshackle street-car and two weazned little jackasses.

He came here from South Dakota a year ago, because of the grief he suffered at the death of his wife in a cyclone. Last week his only son, a lad of 14 years, submitted to an amputation of the leg, just below the hip, and the boy never recovered from the operation. It seems that the lad had a peculiar cancerous affection of the fiesh and bone of the leg, and the father had delayed the amputation for weeks, in the hopes that so severe an operation might be avoided. The dancing and card party given by the laddes of the Rebekah Lodge, LO.O.F., on Wednesday evening, was a very enjoyable and notable social affair. The parlors on the second floor were tastefully ecorated with flowers and trailing vines. The gowns of the young ladies were as handsome as were ever seen at any social affair in this place, and the galety, mirth and good-fellowship that prevailed will be long remembered by all who were there. The music by Strong's Orchestra was good, and all the late waltzes, two-step and other dances kept the dancing going until a late hour. The refreshments were particularly well served and were elaborate. A host of young people wish that the Rebekahs may be induced to attempt another similar affair. Messrs. John T. Brady. C. CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—Western roads have found fresh cause for complaint against the Southern Pacific. In consequence, threats of a war in California rates are being hurled around with the greatest vigor. The trouble arises out of the discovery that the Southern Pacific is negotiating for the transportation of a large party of settlers from Philadelphia to Colorado at a great! reduced rate. It proposes to convey them over the Sunset route and the Denver and Gulf to their destination Denver and Gulf to their destination. Trunk Line Association roads have notified the Southern Pacific that they will no longer pay it commissions on the emigrant business it turns over to them. This will indirectly be of great assistance to the Western Immigration Clearing-house. The Southern Pacific has a number of European agencies working up immigrant business for its Sunset route. Its interests in this direction are all antagonistic to those of the Western Immigrant Clearing-house. It has had to employ agents of its own in Europe and to pay commissions which will compete with those of the Southern Pacific.

The New Bishop of Los Angeles Consecrated. An Associated Press dispatch from Detroit, Mich., says: "The Rev. Joseph Johnson, D.D., bishop-elect of Los An-geles, Cal., diocese, was consecrated a bishop of the Episcopal Church in Christ Church today. Among the participants in the ceremonies were Bishops Talbot of Wyoming and Idaho, Abel Leonard of Nevada, Utah and Western Colorado, William Leonard of Ohio, Worthington of Nebraska, Savies of Michigan and Gailer bishop-coadjutor of Tennessee. "All the bishops wore the full regalia of their office, and the services were beautiful and impressive. Among the clergy present were several representing other denominations. Holy Communion service followed the consecration ceremonies, in which the bishop participated. A reception was tendered Bishop Johnson this evening at the residence of Don M. Dickinson.

Street Preacher Arrested.

Rev. C. A. Bailey was arrested by Of-ficer McKenzie yesterday evening while ficer McKenzie yesterday evening while preaching at the corner of First and Main streets. He was taken to the Police Station and booked for obstructing the street. Bailey remonstrated against such treatment. Capt. Roberts and other officials at the station reasoned with him for half an hour on the error of his way in persisting in holding meetings on street where such gatherings are a violation of the city ordinances. Bailey finally put up $10 cash bail and departed.

Declarations for the big stakes and handicaps will soon be due, and as soon as they are made public specula-tion on the outcome will be rife.

SAYS THE NEWSBOYS' BENEFIT SHOULD BE A SUCCESS.

Deserving Charity-Tickets Selling Rapidly and "The Fire Patrol" Will Have a Packed use-It's a Good Thing, Push it Along.

It's just booming along! There is a and throughout the city to make the benefit on Wednesday afternon a decided success, and when the little tots who at present have bright visions of a haven of rest, where they will be ac-corded some of the pleasures of life en-joyed by more fortunate lads, witness the throng of philanthropic people who will crowd the Burbank on that afternoon, they will realize that Miss Nan-nary has given an impetus to the move-ment that will result in the collection of a fund sufficient to purchase the prosed home. "The Fire Patrol" contains among its many characters just such a little waif as this proposed home will shelter and elevate from a life midst hard associates and evil surroundings to one of comfort and refine ment. Toodles is a typical character known to large eastern cities, and the amount of slang and street savings acquired by this mite of humanity is really astonishing. Content with a really astonishing. Content with a straw bed in any convenient box or hogshead, where the police will not disturb him, and caring little for his garb and less for his stomach, this little youngster is a thorough homogenius, taking life in its cloudiest moments in the highest view. Little Mildred, the flaxen-haired little miss who essays such roles with Miss Nannary's company and is the recipient of repeated encores and scene calls each night, is delighted at the opportunity of playing for the boys, and in conversation on the subject yesterday, said: "Oh, it's so good! Just think of it. May be we can make a lot of money for them, and if we don't get enough probably some rich man will give them some more, and then they'll have their home. I am just going to play my part Toodles the best I can, and I'll recite the piece of poetry, "The Newsboy," written for me some time ago. Miss Nannary and the ladies and gentlemen are going to do their best, and I will do everything I know." straw bed in any convenient box or

CHAIN BELT.

Dr. Pierce's Belt has many points of advantage over others, but we have room to mention but THREE in this advertisement. First-fi looks like the pictures. We don't represent one thing in the papers and try to sell you something entirely different when you call at the omce.

Second-fi is sold at about ONE-HALF the price asked for belts of inferior make.

Third—The current regulator of Dr. Pie ce's Belt IS NOT A TOY. It gives the full force of the electric current at all times, but prevents burning and disagreeable sensation of every kind.

A thorough examination of these goods and comparison with all others is respectfully invited. Call or write for free "Pamphlet No."
